Illing Students Compete in Science Bowl Competition at UCONN...

Illing Middle School's Science Bowl Team recently participated in the Northeast Regional Science Bowl Competition at the University of Connecticut.

The competition was sponsored by UCONN and the Department of Energy and consisted of two parts: a Jeopardy-like quiz game in which student teams must answer science and math questions; and a car competition in which the team must design and build a lithium battery operated car.

They were among the approximately 200 middle school students from 36 teams representing 22 different schools and clubs throughout the state of Connecticut that participated. The Quiz Bowl team coached by Illing science teacher Ginny Schneider included 8th grade students Marie (Mary) Adriana Berrios, Ting Ting Lin, Chris Rich, team captain Beryl Chen, and 7th grader Silas Brogan. The car design team consisted of 8th graders Artharv Desi and Mark Rosario, who were coached by Illing technology teacher Vic Berard.
